International Teacher Education

The Egg Theory Lesson plan (after feedback)

Student name	Dylan Schlepers
Student number	5882966
NHL- e-mail address	Dylan.schlepers@student.nhlstenden.com
Specialisation	History
Classcode	ITSB23V1MPES1-A
Supervisor(s)	La, Brian
Examiner(s)	La, Brian
Assessment date	4/11/2026

By handing in this product, I declare that the product is my own work and that it is free of plagiarism.

Student-teacher Dylan Schlepers	Mentor-teacher (if applicable) La, Brian	Date 02/11/26
School (+ curriculum) International School IB MYP - Individual and Societies/ History	Class level (grade, age) 7 Grade (12-year-old)	No. Students 20
Length of the lesson 10 minutes	Topic/content The Egg Theory	Materials (books, etc.) PowerPoint presentation 3-Step "Cosmic Puzzle" Envelope Sets (1 per group of 4), Whiteboard & Markers.

Learning aims	Prior knowledge, attitudes and skills	How to check students' progress towards the learning aims in this lesson?
• Knowledge and understanding: Students will understand the main idea of Andy Weir's The Egg: all humans are different lives of one soul, and these lives do not happen in a normal, linear order. • Critical thinking and analysis: Students will look at how the story is told out of order and consider how the idea of one shared identity could affect the way people think about right and wrong, including	• Some basic understanding of philosophical thought experiments and storytelling. • Experience with group discussions and working together. • Openness to ideas that do not follow a normal timeline	- • Observe how students work together and explain their choices during the 3-step Cosmic Puzzle activity. • Listen to the group's explanation of the order they chose and their understanding of the story's timeline. • Use the final questions about the Golden Rule to check how students connect the story to empathy and the way they treat others

the Golden Rule. Attitudes and reflection: Students will be open to discussing an unusual idea and think about how it could affect the way they treat other people.

TIME
Phase 1 00-02 min: Hook & Guiding Question
Phase 2 02-06 min: The 3-Step Cosmic Puzzle (Interactive Group Inquiry)
Phase 3 06-08 min: Explaining the idea and non-linear time
Phase 4 08-10 min: Reflection and closing discussion

Part 2 : Lesson plan[3]

TIME	CONTENT (What are you teaching?)	ACTIVITIES (How are teacher & students working?)	MOTIVATION (Why this activity/approach? Source-backed)
00–02 min (Phase 1)	Content: Introducing personal identity and empathy through a thought experiment.	Teacher: Displays Slide 2 with the prompt: "If you knew that every person you ever interacted with was actually yourself in a different life, how would that change your daily actions?" Calls on 1–2 students to share their first thoughts Students: Think about the question silently and give a short response.	Why this activity: The question connects the story to students' own lives. It gives them something to think about before the theory is explained
02–06 min (Phase 2)	Content: Putting the story's events in order and thinking about its non-linear timeline.	Teacher: Divides the class into small groups of 4–5 students. Gives each group an envelope with three mixed-up cards based on Andy Weir's short story: (1) The Death and Encounter, (2) The Universal Revelation, and (3) The Cosmic Egg and Purpose. Asks each group to put the cards in the order that makes the most sense to them. Students: Read the cards, discuss them and arrange the three stages of the soul's journey. They also think about why the story does not follow normal chronological time not apply.	Why this activity: The puzzle gives students an active way to work with the story instead of only listening to an explanation. Working in groups also gives them a chance to compare their ideas.

06–08 min (Phase 3)	Content: Clarifying Andy Weir's The Egg (2009) and the idea of non-linear time.	Teacher: Displays Slide 3 (The Egg by Andy Weir). Asks one group to explain the order they chose. Explains that people from different periods in history, such as Abraham Lincoln, a medieval peasant and a stranger in the street, are all lives of the same soul. These lives do not happen one after another in the usual way. Students: Share their group's order, explain their choices and discuss the idea that all people are connected through the same soul	Why this activity: students can compare their own answers with the story's idea. This helps make the unusual timeline easier to understand.
08–10 min (Phase 4)	Content: Thinking about how the story could affect ideas about right and wrong	Teacher: Displays Slide 4 with two questions: 1. If this idea were true, what would happen to the	Why this activity: The final discussion asks students to use the story's main idea to think about real-life behaviour and and the Golden Rule	concepts of “good” and “evil”? 2. How would this change the Golden Rule (“treat others as you want to be treated”)? Leads a short class discussion and invites students to share their answers. Students: Share their thoughts and explain why hurting another person could, in the story’s world, be seen as hurting themselves.	how they treat other people.